Hillary Clinton, the U.S. senator who lost the presidential election to Donald Trump, said Sunday she was "really proud" of the "long campaign for the women's vote." "I'm really proud of the support from the women's vote and the long campaign for the women's vote," Clinton said in an interview that aired on CBS's "60 Minutes," when asked about the result in the race. "I think the public rejected a lot of the extremist positions that were advocated by the Republican nominee," she said. Trump, the real-estate billionaire who became the country's next president, claimed victory in the early hours of Dec. 12, after election officials in several U.S. states called in favor of him. But after a recount in key states had Trump's Democratic opponent, Clinton, declared that she would continue to campaign, the GOP nominee conceded. Clinton, who won nearly 55% of the popular vote but lost the election to Trump, had urged her supporters to respect Trump's victory. "You can honor and respect the outcome of the election," she said, per The Associated Press. "Now, what I'd say is, you know, it doesn't make any sense to walk away from the values and the vision that you fought for during the campaign and that you shared in." When asked about the loss, Clinton said she told her supporters "to look to the best of what they stood for, to keep up the fight."
Mechanical stress induced displacement is an integral but understudied feature of human osteoporotic bone. We have shown that the suppression of osteoblast (OB) differentiation in response to mechanical stress is primarily mediated by mechanical stress induced displacement of the OB nuclear positioning mechanism (NPM). For those who still haven't played it, the latest version added the game mode Adept. The game mode is easy, just grab a finisher and slash your way through the enemies. To enter the game mode press I then Q (PS3) or L to skip the tutorial.

I started playing around with my delux spd 6100, 780FX DX11, 32gb Crucial 2x SO-DIMMs, and 4670k and that was a lot of game yesterday. I'm already missing 1700-1900 rpms on the shader core, and are looking forward to upgrade....

Enjoy the game, and feel free to leave comments and rates!Q: Unable to create a generic repository/service with IRepository interface - Unity 3.5 In my unity3d application, I have an interface as follows. public interface IRepository { IEnumerable Get(); bool IsEmpty(); void Add(T entity); void Remove(T entity); void Update(T entity); } And an implementation of that interface like this. `public class Repository : IRepository where T : class { public IEnumerable Get() { return this.m_Entities.ToArray(); } public bool IsEmpty() { return this.m_Entities.Count() == 0; } public void Add(T entity) { this.m_Entities.Add(entity); } public void Remove(T entity) { this.m_Entities.Remove(entity); } public void Update(T entity) { } private List m_Entities = new List(); } So, the problem I'm facing here is, it seems that Unity doesn't allow to create a generic repository. I mean Unity doesn't allow to do a this.m_Entities.Add(entity), while doing this I get the following error. Cannot implicitly convert type System.Collections.Generic.List to System.Collections.Generic.List. An explicit conversion exists (are you missing a cast?) Basically, the unity object doesn't`
